Dear Honghong Shan!

On 11th-17th of September, 2017 at Gubkin Russian State University of Oil and Gas (National Research University) the Second International Oil and Gas Majoring Students Forum “New Generation: Across the Universe” will take place.

The Forum is a great chance for students to declare their personal opinion about current challenges and prospects of the national and global fuel and energy industry, as well as issues, associated with professional development and internationalization of education – the key points of the sustainable development.

In 2016 the Forum had a significant resonance, bringing together 117 participants from 52 countries of the world at Gubkin University. The Russian Federation government officials, leading experts and top managers of the largest oil and gas companies also took part in the Forum.

The forthcoming Forum will be a new stage in the development of youth international cooperation and definition of the future tendencies in the global oil and gas industry. The event will unite about 150 oil and gas majoring students of the best world higher educational institutions.

The program includes plenary sessions, a case championship, a round table, seminars, master classes, as well as acquaintance with the culture of Russia.

The Forum received the approval and support of the Society of Petroleum Engineers (SPE), World Petroleum Council (WPC) and International Gas Union (IGU).

The university officials sincerely hope to unite forces with leaders of higher educational institutions worldwide and invite the students of the China University of Petroleum to take part in the Forum!

Sincerely,
Rector
